

I don't think that the law should be weakened. I think that the people have a right to say they don't want telemarketers calling. I think that they should have the right to their privacy especially in their own home and telemarketers should respect that.